Splendid Success Was Home-coming At Mount Hermon

The largest gathering of the Alumni of Mount Hermon school ever held began last Friday in the home-coming of former students and friends. The arrangements were thorough and complete and the attendance of over a thousand persons spoke of the loyalty of the sons of Hermon to the institution which prepared them in life's work. The program as outlined in last week's paper was carried out fully.

Headmaster David R. Porter welcomed the alumni and guests and President Frederick Newton of the alumni association responded.

Dr. Porter in his welcome said that the school welcomed the boys back to the halls and campus where so many happy recollections were centered. He went on to say that it was particularly pleasant that so many have come back to these reunions to relive together the old days.

In responding to this welcome President Newton reaffirmed the pleasure of the alumni to come back home. He referred to the everlasting beauty of the hills and lawns, to the memories clustered in the dormitories and classrooms and paid special tribute to the memory of the founder, in whose honor the celebration is taking place.

At the annual alumni meeting the election of Jerome Burt of Fitchburg as president for the next four years was held. Mr. Burt, a graduate of Hermon and Yale, has had a wide experience as an educator, having been commissioner of secondary education in Massachusetts until he was appointed recently Superintendent of Schools at Fitchburg.

The anniversary banquet marked a high point in the celebration. More than 1,000 guests were seated in the dining hall. Headmaster David R. Porter, toastmaster, introduced the speakers. These were Richard C. Morse, '02, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Dr. John L. Tildesley, '89, Associate Superintendent of Schools of New York City. The latter's subject was "The Future of Mount Hermon."

President James A. McConaughy, '05, of Wesleyan university delivered the anniversary address Saturday at 11:00 in Memorial chapel.

Tributes to D. L. Moody were paid by Dr. Henry F. Cutler, principal-emeritus of the school Sunday morning in Memorial chapel. The reunion guests filled the chapel to listen to the educator, who, after spending 42 years as head of Mt. Hermon went to France and Australia to study medicine.

Dr. Cutler was called to this school by Mr. Moody soon after graduation from Amherst college. "Mr. Moody had the combination of love as the motive and reason as the motor; heart and mind were united. He embodied head, heart and mind. Because of these qualities and the faith of Mr. Moody these schools will stand as his enduring pulpit."

"Mr. Moody was accustomed to big ideas. It was a big venture for him to leave Northfield as a boy; to leave Boston for Chicago, and a 30 to leave this country for Great Britain on a tour of evangelism. The schools are probably his greatest achievement. Moody turned his idea into an ideal, and from that to the real."

The celebration closed Monday morning.

Miss June Wright leaves next Tuesday for Boston where she will attend the summer session of the Boston university.

A Unique Supper; Plan Seeks Support Aid Of Girl Scouts

Next Tuesday, July 6, an interesting and unique experience will be in store for all our citizens to attend, patronize and partake of a Progressive Supper that is: that you call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Polhemus on Main street at 6 o'clock that afternoon and enjoy the first course of a most appetizing meal. Then when you have had a bountiful serving and are ready to depart, go at once to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Allen H. Wright only a short distance away and there enjoy your salad course of the good things to eat. Finally you go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Fitt where the dessert and coffee will be furnished. Mr. Fitt will probably be at home to assist in the welcome of all guests and regale them with some of his fine bits of Irish verse and humor.

You won't be sorry you traveled along with the crowd in this progressive supper and you will get your money's worth according to the cost mentioned in their advertisement. Better save thirty-five cents out of your holiday expenditures and attend the supper. Then too, it's for a good cause: for the camp fund of the Girl Scouts.

The following Girl Scouts depart on Saturday for the camp: Betty Kehl, Beverly Potts, Miriam Hunt, Barbara Addison, Barbara Harris and Jean Murphy.

The progressive supper will appeal to all; the first course will be cold meats, potato salad, scalloped potatoes, relishes and rolls. The salad course will be appetizing and of course the dessert and coffee will be a fine finish. Don't miss it. Plan now to go next Tuesday.

Playground Work Is Abandoned Here

The work of completing the unfinished portions of the High School playground has virtually been abandoned and WPA has considered the affair a closed incident. The Press published a long article relative to the status of this proposition some weeks ago and stated that about the sum of $280 remained yet to be expended upon the unfinished project provided the town took the required action. Nothing has been accomplished in the matter since all available labor was employed on other projects and now with the passing of the dead line of June 30th the whole affair is ended so far as the WPA is concerned. The available funds will go back to the Federal Treasury.

Local Graduates of Northfield Seminary

Local Hospital Day Has Been Named

The members of the local Women's Board of the Franklin County hospital met Tuesday to arrange for the annual lawn festival which will this year be held on the spacious grounds of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Moody on Highland avenue. The date has been fixed for Friday, Aug. 6. Miss C. Ina Merriman has been named as chairman to succeed Mrs. Frank H. Montague who has served for several years.

Sunday's Service

Services next Sunday will be at the Sage chapel in the morning at 11 o'clock and evening at 8:00. The speaker will be Prof. James T. Cleland of Amherst. There will be special music at both services.

Birthplace Has Showing of Moody Exhibit

Rare Moody Material Is Shown Daily To Friends And Public

The "birthplace" of Dwight Lyman Moody on the Seminary campus at the junction of Moody street, Highland avenue, North Lane and Winchester road, also known as the Faculty House, has been set apart for a D. L. Moody exhibit as a part of the observance of the Moody centenary year. The birthplace is the home of Mr. Moody where he was born February 5, 1837 and in which his mother, Betsey Holton Moody, lived from the time of her marriage to Edwin Moody in 1828 until her death at the age of 91 years in 1896. In the exhibit will be shown the cradle in which the Moody children were rocked and the three-foot square table around which they gathered for meals.

The exhibits are arranged chronologically in seven rooms on the ground floor and include numerous photos and paintings of Mr. Moody from his early to his late years. Photographs of his mother, his wife and many of his close friends and workers are also shown. A number of Mr. Moody's letters are on display, also letters addressed to him from Queen Victoria in 1884, Lord Chancellor Cairns, Charles H. Spurgeon and others. Among other objects of interest may be noted his Bible which Mr. Moody saved as the sole article from the great Chicago fire in 1871, his father's account ledger may be seen, the cash book of the Holton shoe store in Boston, Scotland, Australia and various cities and groups in America. Then there is President McKinbeen arranged by A. P. Fitt, Mr. Moody's son-in-law, and former secretary. The exhibit will remain until the close of the summer conference season.

Entrance to the birthplace will be via the front door and exit on the east side. Visitors are requested to register before leaving at Mr. Moody's study desk.

The following is a guide to this most unique and interesting exhibit:

Room 1 (West front parlor)—Earliest souvenirs. Moody and Holton genealogical trees. Page from family Bible. Photos of Mrs. Betsey Holton Moody and her family; this house; Mr. Moody's own home, 1875-1899. Some early documents. Original three-foot table in the Moody home. Chair, a wedding present to Betsey Holton, 1828. Widow Moody's rocker. Cradle. Note wall painting.

Room 2 — In which it is thought D. L. Moody was born. Photos of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Moody in the 1860's and 1870's, in Chicago. Also of Ira D. Sankey, etc. Glass case containing D. L. Moody inscriptions in gift Bibles; his father's account book, 1821; cash book of the Holton shoe store in Boston, 1854-56.

Room 3 — Sunny extension added by Mr. Moody for his aged mother. Souvenirs of the English campaigns of 1873-75 and 1881-84, and American campaigns. Letters from distinguished people. Photos of Henry Drummond, the Studts, Wilfred Grenfell, P. P. Bliss, Major Whittle, and other workers. Case containing souvenirs, invitations to hold meetings in Chicago, Scotland, Australia, etc. Albums of newspaper clippings.

Room 4 — Photos and literature of Mr. Moody's institutions today. The Northfield Schools and conferences; the Moody Memorial church, Chicago; the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago; the Moody Colportage Association, Chicago.

Room 5 — Mr. Moody in his later years (died 1899); also Mrs. Moody (died 1903); and W. R. Moody (died 1933). Please sign the register on Mr. Moody's desk before leaving.

Room 6 — Library. Mr. Moody's volumes of sermons; biographies and other related volumes. Latest photos of Mr. and Mrs. Moody, with three grandchildren.

Room 7 (East front parlor)—Memorial albums of newspaper clippings. Centennial literature and documents. Glass case, special Bibles, albums of letters received by Mrs. D. L. Moody upon his breakdown and death. Mr. Sankey's portable organ.

Last week Mary E. Woolley, honorary president of the AYH, and for 37 years president of Mt. Holyoke college, was a visitor at the National headquarters of the Youth Hostel.

FOOD SALE — The Ladies' Sewing Society of the Congregational church will hold a sale of home cooked foods on the lawn of the "House of Colton," Wednesday, July 7, at 2 o'clock. Your patronage is invited.—adv.

Religious Leader Passes In Death; Well Known Here

Mrs. Emma Belle Dougherty Pierson of Montclair, N. J., died at her home in that city after a serious illness of five months, on Friday, June 18. She was the wife of Delevan L. Pierson, the editor of the Missionary Review of the World and both were well known and had many friends in Northfield, where they have visited frequently.

Mrs. Pierson was a woman of rare Christian character with notable literary and social gifts, and a great talent for making and keeping friends. She had traveled extensively in Europe, North Africa, and other lands, as well as in America. In 1929 and 1930 she spent a year with her husband in making a world-wide tour, visiting some twenty-nine countries, including the savage island of New Guinea. On her return she made many addresses on the life of women and children of other lands and on missionary work as she had seen it. Her interesting experiences are told in a volume which it is expected will be published in the Autumn. She is also the author of a valuable little volume "When Things Go Wrong," published in 1920.

Mrs. Pierson was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Dec. 15, 1871 the daughter of the late Horace F. Dougherty and Sarah E. Shepard. She attended Brooklyn High school and was graduated with honors from the Packer Collegiate Institute in the class of 1889. Five years later, she was married to Mr. Delevan L. Pierson, son of the late Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, D.D., a widely known preacher and author.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Pierson is survived by her brother, Mr. Horace N. Dougherty, of Brooklyn, and a sister, Mrs. Hugh Roberts of Wheaton, Ill.

The funeral services were held in the Bedford Presbyterian church, Brooklyn on Sunday afternoon, conducted by Dr. Geo. W. Arms, pastor of the church. Dr. Robert C. Williamson, pastor of the Presbyterian church of upper Montclair, and President William J. Hutchins of Berea college. The interment was in the Pierson family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

"Cheerio" To Aid Historical Museum

Through a bequest of $10,000 the Windham County Historical society started the construction of a historical museum at Newfane last fall to house the large and very valuable collection of historical material in the possession of the Society and having to do with the early settlement and progress of southern Vermont. The exterior of the brick building has been completed with monies available but the interior will require about three to four thousand dollars more. To raise this fund and proceed immediately, Charles K. Field of New York and Newfane, popularly known as "Cheerio" on the radio will give a series of concerts throughout the state, the first at the Auditorium in Brattleboro on Friday, July 30. It is hoped that the building can be dedicated with its completion at the annual meeting of the society, August 23 of this year, when members of the Northfield Historical society will be invited to attend.

He Is To Wed

Considerable interest is taken by Northfield friends in the announcement made by the Rev. Dr. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, rector of Trinity Episcopal church in Boston to his parishioners last Sunday that he will wed next fall. The young lady is Miss Mary Kent Blagden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Blagden of Amherst, Pa. Dr. Kinsolving who is very much interested in the Northfield Girls' conference meeting this week and was the speaker in Sage chapel Monday evening has been a visitor to Northfield for many years.

Well Known Traveler On Faculty Staff Coming Conference

Just back from a year of travel around the world, during which he studied the deeper movements of Christianity and the vital issues arising from the contact of Christianity with the culture and current life of the Orient, Dr. Hugh Vernon White of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Boston, will be on the faculty of the Northfield Conference of Religious Education July 19-30 at East Northfield, giving a course in "The Philosophy of Missions" and one on "The Young Moslem Looks at Life."

Says Dr. White: "One cannot be blind to the fact that the attitude of the people of any country toward Christianity is profoundly colored today by social and political groupings. In the Orient people are pressing the issue of Christianity's position on the Negro in America, on British rule in India, on whether China should fight for freedom in the face of Japanese invasion, on the matter of Communism. All these are for millions not remote problems of politics and social theory, but intensely personal issues, the solutions of which will determine the character and quality of their inner life. Such a world the Christian missionary must face today, and to it he must bring a positive and clarifying word. Herein lies the crucial significance of the Christian mission in the Orient."

Dr. White in his course on "The Philosophy of Missions" will consider the question as to what place the missionary industry has in the life and work of the Christian church.

Born in California, Dr. White received the major part of his training in that state, being a graduate of the University of California and holding an S.T.B. and D.D. from the Pacific School of Religion. He received his S.T.M. at Harvard Divinity school and his Ph.D. from Leeland (Sanford) in 1935.

Rev. W. A. McIntire

Rev. William A. McIntire, age 66, passed away at his summer cottage on Rustic Ridge early Wednesday morning after a long illness. Mr. McIntire was the son of Henry E. and Caroline Walker McIntire of Brooklyn, New York. His early boyhood was spent in the East New York section of Brooklyn, but because of ill health he spent many of his school days in Pittsford, Vt., making his home with his uncle the Rev. Dr. Charles E. McIntire. Returning to Brooklyn as a young man, he entered the Brooklyn college of Pharmacy where he graduated with honors in the class of 1895, receiving the degree of Dr. of Pharmacy. He taught in his Alma Mater for several years after his graduation and assisted in the management of his father's drug business. He was for a long time a member of the East New York Reformed church where he taught a Bible class. He was also active in the 26th Ward Branch of the YMCA.

He was married on September 30, 1902 to Dr. Elizabeth H. Livingston. After a year in Brooklyn the young couple moved to Chittenden, Vt., where Mr. McIntire had charge of the village church and where he followed a course of study prescribed by the Rutland Association of Congregational churches and ministers. During this time he was requested to be the "Stated Supply" at the Congregational church in Pittsford during the absence of its minister. While living in Pittsford Mrs. McIntire carried on the practice of medicine. About this time he was called to the pastorate of the Congregational church in Danby, Vt., August, 1907 where he was ordained and installed on November 20 of that year and where he served continuously for thirty years. He retired from this connection because of failing health and was elected pastor emeritus of the Congregational church in Danby which office he still held at the time of his death. During his pastorate at Danby he also served as minister to the Congregational church at East Dorset for about 15 years and for a long time conducted early morning services at Danby Four Corners. He was during his whole active ministry a member of the Rutland association of Congregational churches and ministers and served for many years on the board of directors of the Vermont Congregational conference. During much of this time he was also a member of the Bennington County association of Congregational churches and ministers. During the World War he served for 22 months under the YMCA the most of that time in the Eagle Hut, London. Since his retirement his health has gradually failed and a few months since he suffered a complete breakdown.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his son, Henry Livingston of Kenmore, N. Y.; two daughters, Margaret E. of Hartford, Ct., and Frances J. (Mrs. E. M. Gasley) of Yonkers, N. Y.; two grandchildren, William H. and Robert G. McIntire; two brothers, Jesse A. of Philadelphia and George C. of Burlington, N. J.

Services will be held at the Kidder Funeral Home, Northfield, today (Friday) at 2:00 p. m. with interment at the convenience of the family. Rev. Hugh P. Holland, Jr., of Danby, Vt. and Rev. O. R. Houghton, of Wallingford, Vt. will officiate.

Skillful Training Is Now Offered To All Music Lovers

An unusual opportunity for music lovers is to be offered Northfield residents this year in connection with the third annual Festival of Sacred Music under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson of the Westminster Choir School. Many more rehearsals than have been held in previous years will be on the program in preparation for the Festival, and these will afford a splendid chance for training under skilled leadership. Dr. Williamson is sending one of his assistants to Northfield to commence rehearsals next week. All local residents and people in surrounding communities who are interested in singing under expert leadership are invited to participate.

The first gathering of singers in and around Northfield will be held next Tuesday, July 6, at 7:30 in the Music hall of Northfield seminary. Mr. Wray T. Lundquist of the Westminster Choir School will be in charge of this and subsequent rehearsals. He comes with an excellent background and record of experience. His father, Matthew N. Lundquist, is a professional musician, a college professor and a composer of a large number of sacred choral works. His mother has had wide experience as a soloist.

A graduate of Hartwick college and Westminster Choir School, Mr. Lundquist is planning to carry on advanced studies in composition next year, continuing his work with Roy Harris, foremost American composer. Mr. Lundquist has been active in choral work for many years, having been a member of the capella choir of Hartwick college and the world-famous Westminster chorus. His experience in directing includes work with several choirs, among them that of the Emanuel Baptist church of Newark, N. J. Next year, in addition to his studies, he will direct the choir of the Summit Presbyterian church of Germantown, Pa., a church with a membership of about 1100.

Already several choirs have begun rehearsing for the Festival. From Holyoke, Northampton, Brattleboro, Ashfield, Greenfield, South Hampton and other points requests for music have been pouring in. The Northfield Schools are supplying the music free of charge for use by singers; in some cases choirs are using it for their anthems during the week's previous to the Festival which comes as the climax of the celebration of the D. L. Moody centenary. Music will be distributed at the first rehearsal next Tuesday.

YOUTH HOSTELS IN NEW ENGLAND

What Do You Know About The Hostels? Get Acquainted

The American Youth Hostel movement has its headquarters in America in Northfield and every Northfield citizen should be proud of the fact that this great and growing movement among the youth of our country heads up in this community where the American directors reside and with a force of some twenty employees carry on in a manner befitting any industrial enterprise.

There is no excuse for ignorance when the sojourner in our community asks about the Youth Hostels. The doors of the establishment are always open and visitors will be taken about the main office building as well as Richard Schirrmann Hostel No. 1, and the movement explained in all its varying details. No official of the movement is too busy nor any employee of the establishment too engrossed with his or her work but what they will be glad to meet the stranger and properly inform. Courteousness and politeness is always displayed and the seeker after knowledge will receive all he or she can absorb.

The Youth Hostel movement is new to America. It is of many years standing in the European countries. It was given to Monroe Smith and his good wife, Isabel, to inaugurate the work here after their contact with it abroad. Monroe might be considered a faithful and appreciative son of Northfield, he spent his boyhood here and upon him the hills, the fields, the river, the valley and its peoples had made a lasting impression and so when it came to founding the organization here, he remembered the setting and to cap the climax of that impression, here was a castle much like that found about Europe which afforded the beginning. In a crude way the Schell Chateau provided the incubus. Then with expansion came the purchase of the Sankey property, now known as the Hostel No. 1, and later the Mountain View hotel purchase as national headquarters.

MONROE and ISABEL faith is now rewarded in a grand company of the nations leading citizens pledged to a furtherance of their effort.

Northfield should be most happy that it has been selected as the headquarters of the movement. What has been accomplished and what privileges it has conferred can best be estimated by a glance at its reports, but if you tire of facts and figures just take a glance at the map published here at the top of the page and note the various youth hostels scattered about New England. A young man or young woman possessing good character and properly vouched for with a card of membership can now see all there is to see of nature and of civilization if he or she chooses, by travel—hike, bike, or auto—in easy stages with conveniences enroute that are economical and dependable. And what's more, with perfect confidence and safety assured and shared by the home folks.

Let's take some "intelligencia" from the pamphlet sent out by headquarters (and you can have one for the asking) from which I quote:

"Do you have a yen for the open road? Hosteling is the answer to your longing. Hike or bike, canoe or horse back, ski or snowshoe, there's plenty to last all the year. Who among us wants to wait till he's rich and forty to answer the call of adventure? Now there is a loop of 76 youth hostels, approximately 15 miles apart, running through the Green and White Mountains, and across Massachusetts and Connecticut. A youth hostel is a facility for traveling youth. The Handbook, issued yearly by the AYH, will tell you where to find the youth hostel when you wish to plan your day's trip. The AYH triangle greets you at each stop. Your welcoming host and hostess in every youth hostel are the houseparents. You carry your own sleeping sack, a bag-like affair of sheeting. Blankets and heavy cooking utensils are provided at the hostels. After a grand day's hiking or biking, you cook dinner with other travelers around the hostel stove or the out-of-door fireplace. Houseparents keep supplies for you to get when there is not a corner gro-

Peanut Butter Has Important Role In Preparation of Many Recipes

A New Delicacy—Muffins Made with Peanut Butter

FEW people realize that the peanut began its career as a national food when P. T. Barnum introduced it as a part of the circus. For years the only environment in which peanuts were sold and eaten was at circuses, ball games and other outdoor amusement places.

At first no one ate peanuts for their food value; it was simply the sport of the thing and the tasty flavor of the peanuts that caused their popularity. Later when their nutritive value became known, they entered the household as an article of food, but to no appreciable extent until peanut butter was commercially developed and placed on the market in its present state.

It was about the end of the nineteenth century when the discovery was made that a very palatable butter or paste could be obtained by grinding peanuts, which later became known as peanut butter, and today is an important food item because of its high nutritional value.

The first peanut butter to be sold commercially through the grocery trade was manufactured in St. Louis, Missouri, in the early nineties.

While most everyone is familiar with the many uses of peanut butter as a delicious sandwich spread, few realize what an important role it can play in the preparation of many delightful recipes.

Although corn bread and corn meal muffins are great favorites in many American homes, it is safe to predict that their popularity would soar to even greater heights through the addition of a few tablespoons of peanut butter in the recipe.

The next time you decide to treat your family to corn bread or muffins just try the following recipe and learn what a taste thrill you have discovered.

Peanut Butter Muffins

1/2 cup corn meal
1 cup flour
3 teaspoons baking powder 1 tablespoon sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 slice bacon

Combine and sift all dry ingredients, add peanut butter and milk. Stir just enough to make a smooth batter. Fold in well beaten egg. Bake in well greased muffin pans or in loaf pan, top with small pieces of sliced bacon.

The Family Goes "Hosteling"

Coast Hostellers Left Tuesday Noon On Initial Trip

The first group of young people who made up the first contingent to travel to the west coast by way of Canada across the Rockies, left the East Northfield station Tuesday by train for Montreal where upon arrival they will immediately take possession of a railroad coach fitted up for the special accommodations required by a rolling youth hostel. There were thirty-one in the party led by Monroe Smith, National Director, who will make the trip. A large party of hostellers gathered at the station to wave their good-byes. The group expects to complete its itinerary and arrive in Northfield about August 26.

The group will travel in the specially prepared coach and take in many side trips and visits to well known places while the car is side-tracked. From Montreal where others will join the original group the route carries them to Ottawa, North Bay, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Jasper, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Grand Canyon, Santa Fe, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Northfield.

This vacation and educational opportunity will be an inexpensive one, full of common interest and will demonstrate that young folks of ambition and determination can realize much if they have the will to do so through the privileges afforded them by the Youth Hostels.

very nearby. If you aren't a good cook, don't worry at all; you'll learn all sorts of wayside dishes in a jiffy, to teach your friends on the next hostel trip.

The hosteller's motto is to leave each hostel in better condition than he finds it.

Each summer groups of hostellers go to Europe under AYH leadership of one American and one European for a group of ten. They hike and bike through the British Isles, Scandinavia, the countries of the continent, Italy, the Balkan countries, and far-off Japan. Last year 827 hostellers traveled with AYH passes abroad.

The world, the youth hostel world at least, is now open to youth, spread out like a map with long trails to follow over the farthest hills to find friends, friendly and beautiful countryside, the world over, and carry memories of them all safely, happily home again.

Northfield may well be proud of its youth hostel. It is deserving of our highest commendation.

To those who guide its destiny in the field or here in the offices, may every citizen extend a helping hand, if not in gifts, at least in words of encouragement and cheerful cooperation. Remember that in the country over, the American Youth Hostel movement always speaks of Northfield. Will Northfield always speak well of its hostel?

The Street Fair Of The Y. W. C. A. At Shelburne Falls

The annual street fair of the Y. W. C. A. of Western Massachusetts will be held this summer at Shelburne Falls on Wednesday, August 11. It has been held at Ashfield and Conway and now Shelburne Falls comes forward with the invitation to hold this popular event there. A full program for the day will be arranged and a record patronage is hoped for as the proceeds will be used entirely in support of the work. Cooperation and assistance will be invited from Northfield.

Denver Hostellers

The first contingent of youth hostellers who are to go abroad this summer arrived in Northfield in two cars from Denver, Colorado, Wednesday of last week. One car bore the name in large letters, "Rebel Rangers," and created quite an interest. The young people were under the leadership of Robert Collier a teacher in the Denver schools. After spending a few days here at the Northfield hostel the young people sailed Tuesday from Boston on the S. S. Statendam of the Holland-American Line. Upon reaching Europe the entire party of 85 members will divide into groups with leaders in charge and travel hostel fashion during the summer in various parts of Europe.

It's A Good Story

The news has been going the rounds of how the conductor on the train running between East Northfield and Keene was accosted by a woman passenger who had never seen the beautiful mountain laurel along the hillside on the right of way and who became enamored with its beauty. To oblige her the conductor "pulled the signal cord and halted the train" to pick her a bunch of the laurel. The train moved on and reached Keene on schedule. The woman passenger was delighted. That was real service. However we are inclined to believe that the story was pure imagination upon the part of some reporter anxious for a "scoop."

Mr. and Mrs. Dunning Simmons and their two daughters of Brockton have leased the house of Joseph W. Field on Maple street and will establish their residence here. Mr. Simmons is a traveling salesman and Northfield is a central location in his traveling.

In The WEEK'S NEWS

ON WORLD FLIGHT—Amelia Earhart, America's first lady of the air, is well on the way around the world on her delayed flight. Here she is talking to local officials at one of her stops.

LET IT RAIN—Willie MacFarlane's putting game is consistently good, for the National Open contender has been practicing regularly on his own specially designed indoor putting green. Made of mohair velvet upholstery that acts on a rolling ball just like grass, it rolls up for convenient carrying.

A SNAKE AND LIZARD TRAP proved a valuable item of equipment to Brayton Eddy (left), curator of Michigan's new Insect Zoo, on a 4,600-mile expedition through deserts and swamps in Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas. Equally valuable, was his rugged Plymouth field car which he used to "bring 'em back alive."

CHAMP IN FINE PETTLE—Heavyweight champion James Braddock gets the official medical stamp of approval on the eve of his fight with Joe Louis. The battle in Chicago will be broadcast over the largest network to carry a fight.

END OF THE SKY-TRAIL—The transport plane that disappeared completely near Salt Lake months ago was found smashed to small pieces when mountain snows melted. A searcher is holding some of the fragments, some of which were bigger than a wash tub.

A BEAUTIFUL BRIDAL GOWN worn by Ann Sothorn in "There Goes My Girl," is made of white gossamer sheer lace threaded in gold, worn under a floor-sweeping fitted and flared coat of white tulle. The tulle veil is knee-length, the cap forming a double halo with a small cluster of orange blossoms at each side.

MAKING IT SECURE

In bridge building the last rivet is just as important as the first. It completes the structure, making it firm and secure.

In building an estate there are many important factors; and the final factor, affecting its future security, is the making of a will and the wise selection of an Executor. By choosing this institution, your estate, which you have carefully built, will have the benefit of our experience and specialized ability in handling such matters.

Is Chosen President Of Rockford College

Miss Mary Ashby Cheek, Dean of Mt. Holyoke college has been chosen as president of Rockford college in Illinois and will begin her duties there next fall. Miss Cheek has been Dean at Mt. Holyoke since her return from the University of Geneva in 1931. She is well known to many in Northfield having been interested for some time in the efforts of the Youths Hostel, serving upon the National board and being a vice-president.

Miss Cheek has been Dean of residence and lecturer in history at Mount Holyoke. Born in Danville, Ky., Miss Cheek was graduated from Mt. Holyoke in 1913, and three years later returned to the college as secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, a post which she held until 1918. She obtained her master's degree from Columbia university in 1922 and served the following year as academic dean of Kentucky college for women in Danville. From 1923 until 1928 when she left to study in Geneva.

Rockford college, founded in 1847, is one of the oldest liberal arts colleges for women in the country and is now celebrating its 90th year.

Many Early Graduates Attend The Reunion

It is interesting to note that at the Seminary home-coming celebration just ended many members of early classes were present: Those registered were: Jessie Snyder of High Falls, N. Y., who taught here in '88; Mrs. Anna Jackson Lloyd, Pasadena, Calif., who entered the Seminary in '81; Mrs. Abbie Snowden, '82, who entered three years after the school was founded; Mrs. Helen Hay, '98, arrived from Cheshire England; Marion Wells Woodward, '07, came from the Philippines; Thora Johnson, '17, from Japan. The three present from the class of 1887, the 50 year class, were Jennie B. Mead, Greenwich, Ct.; Mrs. Mary S. Pratt, Brattleboro; and Mrs. Julia S. Ennis, of Amherst. From the class of 1888 came S. Lucy Arms, Orlando, Fla.; Mrs. Gertrude H. Sibley, Minehill, N. J.; Mary J. Holbrook, Townsend, Vt.; and Jennie L. Putnam of Worcester.

High School Honors

The Northfield High School honor roll has been completed for the past school year and gives abundant evidence of the studious ability of its pupils.

Those who maintained an average of 90 or over were: Phyllis Cota, Anna Fisher, Edith Fisher, Eva Fisher, Hazel Tenney, and Susanna Wilder.

Those whose average was 80 or over were: Victoria Bartus, Evelyn Clough, Margaret Donahue, Ellen Giebel, Richard Harris, Robert Huber, Alexander Kozlowski, Esther Ladzinski, Mary Ladzinski, Dorothy Marcy, Ethel Marcy, Elva Martineau, Helen Newton, Raymond Plotczyk, Robert Russell, Rose Seyfert, Monica Weed, and Madelyn Whitney.

The Tea Tent And Book Room Open

With the coming of the various conferences to Northfield this summer the Social Tea Tent, between Betsey Moody cottage and Weston Hall has been equipped and re-opened ready for service. Those in charge are Harlene Carne, chief, Mrs. Mildred Addison, Helen Blossom, Louise Whitman, Lucille Foster, Gladys Rickett, and Evelyn Johnson. The Book Room in the basement of the Auditorium building has also been opened for the sale of books and literature, newspapers, postal cards, etc. Those in charge here are Sophie Servaes, chief, Virginia Powell, Mrs. H. EDITORIAL

Every damnable scheme man can conjure out of the devil's nest of his mind has been applied to break up the fortunes of the rich. The money taken from them in heavy estate taxes, goes into public funds and disappears like the water of a trickling stream disappears as it meets the ocean. The whole scheme is economically unsound. One of its direct consequences is to cause the rich to pass larger burdens to the poor.

Recently a new-comer to Northfield who had just established himself in business was brought into District Court and fined $25 as the result of a raid on his premises and the discovery of a pin ball machine. He suffered the consequence of law enforcement which dealt harshly with him in the fact he was struggling for an existence with small income out of which he paid his percentage to the owner of the premises. He was a stranger here and little known except to those who ventured his acquaintance. A raid was made on his place, he had no friend to tin him off and he was arrested and found guilty. Many of these machines have been in Northfield for many months but they all disappeared about the same time previous to any raid.
I am wondering why? Why wasn't this man given a chance

Missionary Efforts Will Be Considered In Coming Meeting

Next Wednesday, July 7, on the Seminary campus will convene the Missionary conference consisting of delegates from the many denominations of our various churches to consider the work of missions on both the home and foreign fields. Nearly a thousand delegates are expected with a list of speakers and missionaries who hope to take a forward look at the present-day situation.

Courses in Bible, worship, social problems, and other subjects, taught by recognized Christian leaders, will be rounded out by careful analyses of the mission study body for the coming year: "The Church in Rural America" and "The Moslem World," and further enriched by a carefully planned program of music and evening sessions of unusual interest. One evening will be devoted to "A Tribute to Dwight L. Moody," a centenary feature.

Among the special speakers and faculty members are: Dr.
Samuel Guy Inman of the Federal Council; Dr. Lawrence Hosie of the Judson Memorial Church, New York; Miss Sue Weddell of the Woman's Foreign Mission Board of the Reformed church; Miss Gertrude Schultz, Home Base Secretary, Presbyterian Foreign Missions Board, and others. The conference chairman is Miss Amy O. Welcher.

Service on the airways of the B. & M. and C. V. railroads has been suspended at White River junction. The airport at White River did not measure up to the requirements of the Federal Inspection service and therefore this place will be omitted for time. However, it is hoped that arrangements can soon be made for some airport in the territory completely equipped with facilities.

A fair warning. Surely all should be treated alike and police power should be exerted in a manner that is fair and drastic. I hold no brief for any violation of law but justice seems blind at times.

Off To Jamboree Of The Boy Scouts

The Boy Scout Jamboree is on in Washington and from all over the world will attend members of the Boy Scout organization. From Northfield Alden French and Jack Polhemus have gone from the local troop. Upon arriving in Washington they will live in the tented city and spend a most wonderful week never to be forgotten. The boys will have their deliberations, their play, and their pageants. They will parade and be reviewed by the President and hear talks by many of the Federal officials.
Boy Scout work will receive a splendid endorsement resulting in an expansion of its efforts.
The local troop in town is sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Congregational church with an efficient committee in charge.

Were Married

Miss Grace Barton Randall of South Deerfield was married on Tuesday afternoon to Robert Wesley Preston of Greenfield by the Rev. W. S. Anderson. The bride, a native of Deerfield, is a graduate of the Deerfield schools and the Franklin County hospital training school for nurses, class of 1930. She was associated with Dr. Roger Hubbard at his Northfield hospital for two years and has since been doing private nursing. They will make their home in Greenfield.

To Be College Dean

Miss Gladys Grindeland, member of the Seminary faculty for three years, has been appointed Dean of women and executive secretary of the School of Music at Upsala college, New York.
Miss Grindeland taught instrumental music here and was accompanied at some of the sacred concerts. She will take over her new duties in the fall.
Miss Grindeland, whose home is in Minnesota, was graduated from St. Olaf college and the school of Sacred Music, New York City. She came here from Charleton college, Northfield, Minn. Her successor has not been chosen.

P.-T. A. Institute

Parent-teacher groups from throughout Massachusetts will meet at the State College in Amherst July 26 and 27 for the annual Institute of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association.
Among those who will preside at the individual meetings are Mrs. Paul H. Kelsey of Brookline, president of the Massachusetts P.-T. A.; Mrs. Frederick S.
Beattie of Lowell, membership chairman for the state organization; Mrs. A. G. Rivett, past president of the Northfield P.-T. A. council; and Mrs. Edwin R.
Fiske of Greenfield, field secretary of the state P.-T. A.
High School, elementary, and rural education will be considered at the Institute. Individual subjects to be discussed include recreation, safety, and alcohol education.

The Back Yard Gardener

A lady gardener from up Amherst way, and a reader of this humble column, sends in this suggestion on how to take tent caterpillar nests out of trees. You remember I suggested a long stick with a nail in the end. She says instead of the nail to use a swab of cloth, preferably woolen, soaked in kerosene. Use this to break the nests and to wipe the bugs off the limbs. The kerosene not only kills the caterpillars, but they won't rebuild where the kerosene has touched. I'd say this is a mighty good suggestion and certainly thank the lady for it.

While we are on the subject of bugs, right now is when home gardeners are being bothered with cutworms. I'd like to pass along a few suggestions on how to take care of these individuals.
As you probably know, they feed mostly at night.

And where they are plentiful the best method of control is to feed them poison bran which can be made by mixing approximately 3 pounds of bran, 1 ounce of Paris green or white arsenic (either of which you can buy at the drug store), one-half cup of mollasses, and about three pints of water. But add the water slowly so that the mixture does not become too wet. It should just be nicely moistened.

Broadcast this in little lumps about the size of a marble over the garden early in the evening.
This amount will cover a garden about 100 by 100 feet.

You can also keep cutworms away from choice plants by making a heavy paper collar around the stem of the plant. Another way is to put shingles or pieces of heavy paper near the plant.
And the cutworms instead of going back into the ground will hide under the shingles and then you can step on them.

You will notice that cutworms hide underneath the clods of earth or stones and so you can usually find a good many of them there during the day and can kill them. But if you haven't any stones or earth clods, you can use shingles.

After the cutworms get full grown, they burrow into the ground and change into what the entomologist calls pupae. Then in July and August the moths come out and live for a while and then lay eggs for a new generation. They usually lay eggs on rank growth, so a mighty good way to control cutworms for another year is to be sure to clean up all vegetative growth in the garden this fall.

I might say that it may be necessary to give more than one treatment of poison bran, and also be sure that the poison bran is kept away from children and animals.

More Tobacco

Massachusetts tobacco growers have increased their acreage 40 per cent over that of last year, according to Sumner R. Parker of Massachusetts State college.
Mr. Parker, who is acting as executive officer of the state agricultural conservation committee, said this increase, while large, still leaves the total tobacco acreage well below the state base for 1937. Total planted acreage is 4800; the base established under the 1937 conservation program is 6700 acres.

"Daddy, are flies, flies because they fly?"
"I suppose so."
"Are fleas fleas because they flee?"
"Sure, what of it?"
"Well, I told teacher that bees are bees because they be."

Broilers - Chickens

I have a good supply of barred rock broilers ready for market, ranging in weight from 2 to 4 pounds each. Barred rock meat is the table's choice. It is tender, juicy and nothing has been spared in order to present to you the very best meat obtainable.

The price will be regulated according to the Boston Herald retail price list that is printed every Friday. Just think of it! You can have the very best and freshest chicken that it is possible to raise for the same price that you would have to pay for something unknown to you.

Orders will be deliver if desired and may be had alive or dressed. The price for living birds will be five cents per pound less.
